

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

READ AT THE OPENING MEETING OF THE TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

Dear Members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club—It gives me much pleasure to greet you again at this, the beginning of another year. The summer is over and gone. I trust it has been a pleasant and profitable one to each member of our organization and that we assemble now, with renewed interest and enthusiasm for the work before us.

We are all familiar with the old saying, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," and I think "Jill" needs a little rest and recreation too, to enable her to put forth her best effort.

Many of you, I know, have had delightful trips, through the Yosemite and Sequoia National parks, viewing the grandeur of those natural wonders of the world, which at a program last spring, we enjoyed upon the screen.

You who have been so fortunate, have placed for all time in memory's art gallery, pictures that will be a source of enjoyment in all coming years.

Many more of you have been to Big and Little Bear Lakes and other mountain resorts, others chose the various beaches for their outings, where fishing, bathing and the salt air made a healthful change from the usual mode of life. I think I am safe in saying that a large majority of you went by machine over the good roads for which our state is noted. A few years ago could we have gone to these same places in anything like the time and comfort? I think not! What has brought about the change? Principally the horseless carriage, which, not so many years ago, was unknown. Consider how the automobile has revolutionized our lives. It has brought good roads. They proved a positive necessity for comfort and speed, it has placed the country dweller on practically the same plane as his town and city brethren.

It has enabled us to take long, delightful overland trips, enjoying the pure air, the beautiful scenery and enlarging our knowledge in a most attractive way.

Old and young seem equally charmed with this mode of traveling, if one may judge by the well-filled machines to be met any day upon our highways.

We may liken the different lines of our club work to these good roads, over which we travel pleasantly and easily into regions of music, literature, science and art. Sometimes we renew old friends reviewing work we have done years ago, sometimes make new ones by studying subjects we have never before taken up. We find the company cheerful and agreeable, kindred spirits in fact, and our knowledge is increased without much visible effort.

Before our club work brought women together in different lines of study, a few brave souls struggled toward the heights by themselves, but now we are conscious of a vast army of women working for the same ends, co-operating along all lines, we know of their efforts in one place, we read of them in another and so we are encouraged to go forward. The motto of our federation is "strength united is stronger" and so we shall ever find it. "In union there is strength," and pleasure and benefit as well!

Though we may take part in many other lines of work, our specialty must always be the home and everything connected with it, and its best advancement and growth should be of first interest to each one of us. If conditions in our homes do not call for changes, perhaps those in some other homes may and we should do all possible to bring about results which will benefit our sisters in every walk of life.

One subject which is of vital importance to every home is the temperance question, and we are all especially interested in it this year, because we hope to vote California dry at the coming election, November 7.

Who of us wishes to go on record as favoring the saloon and the liquor traffic with all the attendant ills and crimes?

Women have been in a great measure helpless to eradicate the evil—but we are now helpless no longer, having the same opportunity as the opposite sex to cast the weight of our ballot against it.

It is in a great measure for us to say how long we shall suffer this evil to oppress our homes in this fair land.

Our legislative chairman will keep us informed of all important measures which come up for consideration in the legislature and it is hoped we will take special interest in the measures.

AFTER LIVING IN THREE STATES N. C. BERGER SETTLES DOWN IN CALIFORNIA

N. C. Berger, a rancher, formerly located near Polo, Ill., and an old acquaintance of the proprietor of The Glendale Evening News, visited The News office Wednesday, to renew his friendship. Mr. Berger owns some property in Glendale, which he is anxious to sell and invest in his new ranch about eighteen miles from Bakersfield. While in Glendale Mr. Berger is a visitor at the home of his son, C. Berger, 825 Lomita.

"I hope," said Mr. Berger, "to spend the rest of my days in California. I have been wandering quite a little throughout the west and I feel that I have at last found a place that suits me and what is of more importance, suits my wife, who has suffered much from living in unsuitable climates. For a long time I farmed near Polo, Ill., but on account of Mrs. Berger's health we determined to go west."

"I therefore removed from Illinois and went to Delta county, Colorado, purchasing a ranch on the Gunnison river and I started in fruit growing. At this I made quite a success. The climate suited me and I was making the ranch pay; but the altitude, which was 5000 feet, was too much for my wife. She became seriously ill. I therefore traded my Delta county property for a Douglas county ranch near Castle Rock. This also was rather high an altitude for Mrs. Berger and I was not satisfied with it myself. It was a grazing country and the business needed a lot of capital. After two years' experience of that place we moved again. This time to the Sacramento valley."

"It would be impossible to praise too highly the possibilities of the valley. It is wonderful. It is a first-class fruit-growing country; but we had to move again, on account of my wife's health. The valley is full of malaria, at least the spot where we were was malarial. So we moved again. This time we went to Idaho, near Colville, Canyon county. Three years in Idaho, sent us back to California and we are now settled here for life I believe. I find Kern county an ideal spot. The soil is fertile, the water is excellent both for irrigation and for drinking purposes. We get irrigating water from the Kern River ditch and drinking water at a depth of from 75 to 100 feet."

"It would be impossible to say too much in praise of the soil of that part of the state. I am growing my second crop of potatoes this year and they are healthy and apparently a good crop. Unimproved land in that section is worth from $25 to $125, which is cheap for such quality of land. Improved land there is worth from $100 to $125 an acre."

The ranchers live well and get good prices for their products. They can make money. They are in a fine climate, where there is really no extreme. Poultry, cattle, hogs, alfalfa, corn, berries of all kinds, grapes, figs and olives are raised with great ease and are profitable. I am raising grapes, figs and olives on part of my land. In this work I am assisted by my son Clarence who is an old Glendale High school boy. I feel certain that the agricultural land of the San Joaquin valley is not only the finest in the west but the finest in the whole country and I look to see the valley one day teeming with a large prosperous agricultural population."

P. E. O. MEETING

An all day meeting of Chapter L of the P. E. O. Sisterhood was held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Tower of Adams street on Wednesday, October 11. The morning was given over to the usual business and words of greetings were brought to us from Miss Clara Waugh of Chapter C, Colorado Springs, Mrs. Albright of A. V., El Centro, Mrs. Goodwin of A. H., Tropic, Mrs. Weaver of B. A., Glendale and by Mrs. Blackburn and Miss Monica Smith of our own chapter, but who have been from us for some time.

After the business meeting was closed a delightful luncheon was served and a social hour was enjoyed after which Mrs. Lee took charge of the program for the afternoon. Mrs. Lee read a paper of the colleges of California. Miss Mary Blackburn took up the normals of the state, Mrs. Temple the observatories and Mrs. R. D. Goss the state universities and Miss Waugh very kindly gave two very delightful selections on the piano. The program showed much thought and study on the part of the participants and a most enjoyable day was had by all present.

HUGHES WILL IGNORE PRO-GERMAN CHARGES

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT DECIDES NOT TO NOTICE REPORT THAT HE FAVORS TEUTONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PIKESVILLE, Ky., Oct. 12.—Charles E. Hughes, Republican candidate for president, stated today to his friends that he would not make any answer to the charges that are being made against him to the effect that he has secured the German-American vote on an understanding that he will support a pro-German policy. Hughes declares that it quite unnecessary to reply to such an insinuation.

MAD MONARCH OF BAVARIA IS DEAD

KING OTTO, INSANE EUROPEAN RULER, PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY AT FURSTENRIED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Oct. 12.—King Otto of Bavaria, the insane ruler whose vagaries had often astounded the courts of Europe, died suddenly at his royal palace at Furstenried today. Otto was hereditary monarch of his country, and could not be deposed; but he was subjected to restraint and was constantly watched. His death will make little difference one way or the other.

FRENCH CONTINUE TO ADVANCE ON SOMME

GEN. FOCH'S ARMY RUSHES UP TO WITHIN SHORT DISTANCE OF CHAULNES, AN IMPORTANT CITY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Oct. 12.—After a terrific artillery bombardment of the German positions in front of Chaulnes, Gen. Foch sent forward his men who rushed the trenches and reached to within a few hundred yards of that important fortified city. The bombardment of Chaulnes is going on while the French are consolidating their positions. The Germans have an unprecedented number of heavy guns posted in this quarter. They are replying to the French firing and launching heavy counterattacks.

DROP "CHOLERA CHOCOLATES" IN ROUMANIA

RUSSIANS REPORT THAT GERMAN AEROPLANES HAVE THROWN LARGE NUMBER OF POISONED SWEETS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PETROGRAD, Oct. 12.—German aeroplanes flying over Constantza, a Black sea port belonging to Roumania, dropped a large number of packets of poisoned sweets. These "cholera chocolates" as they have been termed by the Roumanians, were examined and analyzed by government analysts who found that they were infested with deadly cholera germs. The people throughout the country have been warned of this illegal warfare.

THINK KINGSTONIAN WAS NOT SUNK

ADMIRAL CLEAVES REPORTS THAT NO SUCH STEAMER CAN BE TRACED AMONG TEUTON VICTIMS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—Admiral Cleaves, commander of the Nantucket naval division reported to the navy department today that after a long and exhaustive search the United States destroyers had returned without finding any trace of the British steamer Kingstonian's crew reported to have taken to their boats when that vessel was sunk by the German U-53. The admiral states it as his belief that there was no such ship as the Kingstonian sunk and that the wireless messages reporting the sinking of the Knudsen had been wrongly interpreted as relating to the Kingstonian. The two words Knudsen and Kingstonian might easily be mistaken in a code message.

HOOSIERS GIVE WILSON ROUSING WELCOME

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 12.—President Wilson arrived here today and was met at the depot by a vast crowd. All the way through the city to the fair grounds the president was greeted by immense cheering crowds.

AT GLENDALE HIGH

THE ROSTRUM SETS DATES FOR INTERCLASS DEBATES—FACULTY TENNIS

The inter-class debates will be held November 15 and 16. This was announced in a business meeting of the Rostrium held yesterday afternoon. Herbert Scheuner who presided over the meeting said that most of the classes have already started work and advised every class to get busy in order to be prepared.

The principal subject of discussion at this Rostrium meeting was the next program of the society to be given to the students and the public on October 18. A debate on the question: "Resolved that Wilson's Mexican Policy is Justified" will be a feature of the entertainment. The affirmative side of the question will be upheld by Robert Carmack, prominent Sophomore, and Stanley Cresswell, Kenneth Loddell and Miss Hutson will line up on the negative.

Another number on the program which promises to be handled in good shape is an oration "A United American Labor" by the prominent labor advocate and agitator, Marion Lehman. Mr. Lehman will handle the subject without gloves and a lot of truths heretofore unknown, will be uncovered to the world. Musical numbers by Mrs. Gibson's department will fill out the program in a way that will no doubt be satisfactory to everyone.

"The Lucky 13" will see "On Trial" at the Morisco theater Friday evening. After the show this jolly bunch of old maids will adjourn to the home of Miss Dorinda Haviland in Tropic for nourishment.

This was the decision of a meeting of the club held at the home of Alice Gray Beach not long ago. Present at this meeting were Evelyn Kent, Vera McPherson, Dorothy Morgan, Gladys Hamilton, Gladys Anderson, Katherine Hobbs, Dorinda Haviland, Lois Candee, Janie Ray, Ruth Williams and May Church. Song, dance and more important, refreshments were indulged in.

The Seniors were looking wise and the rest of the school perplexed yesterday. The reason was this: The Seniors had received 100 per cent. first for having paid up the student body dues, and it all looked impossible. The treasurer, however, declared that she had all the money, and Mr. Howe declared that he had given out the tickets and that seems to be all that is necessary. In fact the money itself might suffice.

The school is wealthier by about $40 as the result.

The intermediate school faculty defeated the High school faculty in a hard fought match on the High school courts Wednesday. It took Mr. Lehman four sets to win from Mr. Wright in the singles. In the doubles Mr. White and Mr. Harkness beat Mr. Joy and Mr. Sawyer by a score of 8-6, 6-8, 7-6. Darkness cut off the fun.

LECTURE ON SCOTLAND

Professor Jerome Hall Raymond will lecture at the Glendale High school, Friday evening, October 13. The lecturer will deal with such interesting subjects as "Ancient Lore and Modern Life," "Scotland," as seen in the poems and romances of Sir Walter Scott, the country itself, its historic castles, its beautiful lakes and its picturesque capital, Edinburgh, "The Modern Athens," and its wonderful commercial, educational and seaport center, Glasgow. This most interesting lecture should not be missed by anyone able to attend.

HURT IN PECULIAR ACCIDENT

While inflating a quick detachable tire on a plain rim in front of Platt's tire agency on Brand boulevard on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Platt and Mr. Davis, former director of a local Kalem Co., were painfully injured. The rim burst hitting Davis on the head and Mr. Platt on the jaw, arm and leg. Both men were hurried to a physician and while the injuries received are not serious they are exceedingly painful.

HONOR BRIDE AND GROOM

Mrs. Ida Glenn and daughter, Claire, of Burbank entertained at dinner in their home Saturday in honor of Mrs. Glenn's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Glenn who were recently married. Other guests were Mrs. Glenn's mother, Mrs. Gilkey of Burbank and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Glenn and S. B. Jones and family of Glendale. A very pleasant evening followed the dinner. The bride and groom are now residing in Hollywood.

FLORAL CONTEST

COMPETITORS IN GARDEN SOCIETY SHOW SHOULD PREPARE NOW

Now is the time to prepare for the Floral contest to be held next March under the auspices of the Glendale Garden society. Flowers cannot be grown in a hurry, begin to get ready now. Read the following statements carefully:

1. A silver cup will be presented for the best twelve blooms of Narcissi being four specimens each of three varieties.
2. A silver cup will be presented for the best twelve blooms of Narcissi of any one variety.
3. A silver cup will be presented for the best twelve spikes of German iris, any varieties.
4. A silver cup will be presented for the best twelve spikes of Spanish iris, any varieties.
5. A silver cup, presented by Mrs. Walter Ross, for the most artistic arrangement of any flowers in a vase—to be judged by an artist.

All competitors must be amateurs. All competitors must become members of the Glendale Garden society—to join which it is necessary to pay the annual fees of 25 cents. With an average of at least three cups to be competed for at each floral contest the fee of 25 cents renders one eligible to compete for at least eighteen cups during the year, not to speak of enjoying the many other advantages to be gained by belonging to this very wide awake and progressive organization.

Narcissi, or as many people say, daffodils, may be planted any time in October or even early in November. The bulbs should be planted three or four inches deep in any ordinary light, sandy soil. They should not require any irrigation, the natural winter rains providing all moisture necessary.

We recommend the following as good March bloomers: Emperor, Empress, Barri Conspicuous, Poeticus Ornatus, Sir Watkin.

Orders for bulbs should be placed at once with our local nursery men as the shipments from Holland may be less than usual on account of war conditions; the early bird catches the worm, we are told, and those who place their orders early are sure to be the first to receive the consignments.

There are many people in Glendale growing iris, the German and Spanish varieties bloom in March. For German iris the following are recommended by Professor Houdy-shel as being beautiful and within reach of the most modest purse: Madame Chereau, Rhein Nixe, King of Iris, Queen of May, but it blooms in March in spite of its name, Atro Purpurea, ever blooming, and Gerda.

HIS FOURTH BIRTHDAY

William D. McRae, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McRae, of Dryden street celebrated his fourth birthday Wednesday by a party. The dining room was tastefully decorated with yellow and white flowers and greenery and a Halloween note was infused into the affair by lanterns, witches and black cats as adornments of the table and walls. Master William was the pleased recipient of many nice presents. Those present were Robert Bullinger, Birnell Yarik, Dorothy Beers, Celia Logan, Ellen Kurtz and Ralph Cunningham. The young people were accompanied by Mrs. Yarik, Mrs. Beers, Mrs. Bullinger, little Ellen Cunningham and Mrs. E. D. Yard. A pleasant time was spent with games, and dainty refreshments were served.

DEATH OF WILLIAM H. JOY

William H. Joy, father of Mrs. C. H. Toll of Kenneth Road, died in Los Angeles Tuesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John H. Foley, 715 East Adams street. Mr. Joy was over eighty years of age. He had led an active life, having large lumber interests in Sonoma county near Healdsburg. Some years ago an injury he received destroyed the sight of one eye and latterly the sight of the other became affected. Nevertheless he was able to walk around short distances up to two weeks before his final illness. In consequence of Mr. Joy's death no Reading circle was held at Mrs. Toll's residence on Wednesday. Besides Mrs. John Foley and Mrs. Charles H. Toll, Mr. Joy leaves another daughter Miss Beresford Joy. Mr. Joy's residence was at Santa Rosa, Cal., but he had been residing for some time with his daughter in Los Angeles. The funeral will be from the chapel of Pierce Bros. & Co., Friday, October 13.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1916

ANCIENT DYES REVIVED

What can be done with the vegetable dyes that have been almost entirely set aside on account of the discovery of the coal tar dyes of modern times can be seen in the variety of color to be found in the various tartans of the Scotch clans. Each clan had its own particular tartan, that is the patterned cloth that is made into the plaid, which is the article of clothing crossed on the breast and over the shoulder where it is pinned with a large brooch.

Each clan had its own tartan distinctive of its men and when the clans were drawn up in line of battle it was easy to distinguish the different tartans. There would gleam the many colors of the Royal Stewart pattern, the red and black of the Macgregors, subdued raspberry shades of the Macduff. Count the number of the clans and you have the number of the tartans.

Take up the Glendale directory and you will find between sixty and seventy "Macs" and "Mcs." A few of these are of Irish origin but the majority of them are genuine Scotch clan names. Think of the permutations and combinations you can get out of a few primary colors and you will not wonder that each of these clans had its own tartan.

The world has been forced to go back to this old art of dyeing which was so striking a feature of the old Scotch clan life. Inquiry led to the discovery that in 1552 an act was passed by the Scotch parliament to limit the number of colored cloths to "scarlet, red, crimson, murrey, pink, brown, black, green, yellow, orange, tawny, russet, marble, gray, sadnew, assemer, watchett, sheep's color, lion color, motley or iron gray, violet, azure, crane and old medley."

These basic colors could be modified considerably and the list of shades increased. As it was the conservative people of the past looked for "fast" colors, that is colors that would not "run" when saturated with rain or when soaked in sea water, two kinds of happenings which are of almost daily occurrence on the coasts of Scotland, where, as in the Island of Skye, it sometimes rains for twenty days on end.

This art of dyeing still remains in the western islands where the dyes that are used for the famous Harris tweeds are unassailable by rain or sun. This famous cloth is in such demand that the workers of the island cannot produce enough of it. The dyes for the tartans and the tweeds were obtained from the country round about the cloth weavers. It is a bleak and barren country. Much of it is peat bog, lying at the foot of syenitic and granitic mountains that rise up out of the very sea. You see there the very stony skeleton of the earth's oldest strata.

On those bleak mountains the Celts have gathered since long before the Christian era the substances from which they obtained their striking dyes. The roots of dockens boiled with copperas produce a fast and brilliant black. The roots of the iris, hawthorn twigs and alder also produce black. The leaves of the iris produce green. Green also is produced from the heather, whins, broom and wild mignonette.

Yellow is obtained from all yellow flowers. Oakbark and elderberries made shades of brown, the blueberry and various vetches afford shades of raspberry.

It is interesting to note that since the war Scotland has gone back to the use of the raspberry for dyeing purposes and that many of the old materials are again in common use for the same purpose.

One of the most useful native substances for producing a vast range of browns and reds is the common lichen, the grey moss that covers the hard rocks of the mountains. All this knowledge is in the possession of a few people. It is probably a good thing that something has occurred to force the world to take cognizance of this ancient lore ere it is lost forever.

DISTINCTIVE DRESS FOR STUDENTS

At the University of Southern California nowadays the freshman is ordered by the senior classmen to wear a skull cap of bright green ornamented with red visor and button. This not very esthetic headwear has been designed to distinguish the freshman and to make him humble in the presence of his superior. It may also be the beginning of a return to the old custom of the European universities of wearing caps and gowns and in Germany of distinguishing the students of different Germanic sections by caps of different colors.

One of the most picturesque universities in the world is the ancient university of St. Andrews, Scotland, where the students of the college of St. Leonard and St. Salvador wear scarlet gowns, with large velvet collars of different colors according to the standing of the student. In similar fashion the student in each of his four years in arts wears a different tassel in his "mortarboard" as the university cap is called.

St. Andrews is a picturesque sight, with its ancient streets and houses. Its abbey now is a ruin. The college itself was founded in 1412 and has always been a famous seat of learning. There John Knox, the reformer graduated at the age of twelve as master of arts. There Andrew Melville studied and preached. Every stone in the streets is historical and the cliffs or "scaurs" or "scores" as they are called in ancient parlance, were the scene of the teachings of the earliest Christians of that ancient world, the Culdees, the tracings of whose chapel may yet be seen on the top of the cliffs looking out over the North sea, where so many tragic happenings have marked the long centuries since St. Regulus sat in his cave in the fourth or the pious Culdees worshipped in the second century.

There to this day the ringing of the ancient bell sends trooping either in or out of the old college gates hundreds of students clad in the long flowing scarlet gowns which has given St. Andrews university the name of "The University of the Scarlet Gown."

The theological students of St. Mary's college, again, wear black stuff or silk gowns and their degree hoods. These colors light up with a warm tone the quaint old streets and houses and the old gray ruins of abbey, castle and chapel. They dwell in the memory. They lend a zest to life at the university and they still preserve the distinctive habits which long ago marked off the difference between town and gown.

Undoubtedly if some upturning of the age should ever sweep away these and other ancient landmarks, the world might be the poorer. The old habit of wearing the college gown and cap at all times led to the more easy distinguishing of the student when he was on the streets and was supposed to separate him from the people of the city and make him easily recognized in times of trouble.

Whatever may be thought of the old custom which still prevails there is no doubt that it is picturesque. The old universities would lose much by losing the touch of color lent them by the gowns and caps of "bejeants," and "masters" as they rush with garments far outstreaming when the bell summons them at early morn from refreshment to study.

Glendale people interested in the Pierpont mine at Ely, Nev., will be interested in an item in the Ely Record of October 6. The item announces that the milling plant of the Glendale Mining & Milling Co., of which the late H. C. Tupper of Glendale was the head and which company owns the Pierpont mine, is now complete in every detail and will go into operation within a few days. Crude oil will be used for fuel for the present but a dam is being constructed to store the waters of Pierpont creek after which a hydro-electric plant will be installed. It is expected that the plant will be operated steadily during the fall and winter months as the management has a large tonnage of ore ready for milling.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Geffelman and Frank Geffelman of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Lauterston of Boyle Heights, were visitors Sunday at the home of Mrs. G. Mills, South Louise street. The whole party motored out to the Earl ranch above La Canada, and spent the day there.

Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the Glendale Garden society can use immediately for publicity work, some good clear photographs of beauty spots in Glendale. If you have a distinct photograph of your back or front yard or some pretty nook send it at once to Mrs. Woods, 1111 West Broadway.

Yesterday onlookers were led to believe the movies had come to town judging from the excitement at the corner of Broadway and Kenwood, but everybody breathed easily when it was learned that it was only Jesse Smith of the Ford agency superintending the taking of the pictures of a group of Ford motors among which were two handsome fruit autos.

Mrs. Frank Albright, of El Centro, Imperial Valley, who formerly resided on Orange street, and was well known in many circles in Glendale, is visiting Mrs. Charles H. Temple, 301 Orange street. Mrs. Albright was a visitor at Chapter L. of P. E. O., of which she is a charter member. At the meeting of the chapter Wednesday Mrs. Albright gave an interesting address on Imperial Valley.

Mrs. E. C. Frank and Miss Alice H. Frank of Eagle Rock road attended the concert at the Schubert club on Wednesday afternoon in the ballroom of the Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles. Attorney Frederick Baker, who was to have read a paper on "The Municipality As a Public Servant" at the Municipalities convention at Visalia, Thursday, October 12, was unable to attend owing to other business. His paper has been sent to the convention. It advocates the broadening of the scope of municipal activities by taking up social welfare and civic service work and points to the greater opportunity in California for exploiting this side of municipal development on account of the complete local self-government which the California cities enjoy.

BICYCLE THIEVES CAUGHT

Joseph Baines and Howard Hughson, both waifs from San Francisco and Oakland, who managed to beat their way down the coast to the alluring Southland, signaled their advent to this region by stealing a bicycle from the Washington street ball grounds. Their ignorance of the district led them to Glendale, where they thought they could sell the wheel. Approaching the back door of the Glendale Hardware store, Baines entered into conversation with the clerks and finally offered the bicycle for sale at the modest price of a dollar and a half. Convinced that the wheel, which was a Pierce-Arrow, in fairly good condition, had been stolen, Baines was held in conversation while the police were notified.

Chief Herald arrested Baines, who is a half-breed—negro and Mexican—and induced him to confess to the theft giving details and also information concerning his accomplice. Hughson, who had been in waiting for Baines in the vicinity of Broadway and Brand, was then arrested and the two criminals will be sent to Los Angeles for arraignment and trial.

The most disagreeable thing about the average man is that he seems to think he is just as good as you are.

LUCIEN GERVAIS MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. D. Gervais, 1439 Ivy street have received papers containing the announcement of the wedding of their son, Lucien Gervais and Miss Verna Albrecht which occurred at the Catholic church at Pesthigo, Wis. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. R. H. McDonald. The Pesthigo paper says:

The bride was attended by her only sister, Miss Pearl Albrecht as maid of honor, and Miss Viola Picard while Maydore LaPlant as best man and William Rossiter attended the groom. The bride looked very charming in a beautiful gown of white tulle and georgette with trimmings of baby Irish lace. Her veil of tulle was caught with a string of pearls. She carried a white prayer book and shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her attendants wore gowns of yellow silk crepe with hats to correspond and carried yellow roses. Little Roger Dolan acted as ring bearer and the little Misses Viola Ludwig and Olive Kehoe dressed in white and wearing white veils were flower girls, strewing flowers along the bridal path. After the ceremony the relatives and intimate friends partook of a five course wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Albrecht, the waitresses being the Misses Valerie Gauthier and Eulalie Lenerville gowned in yellow. The table was decorated in yellow and white roses and the color scheme of yellow and white was carried throughout in the decorations. The place cards were in the form of a bell painted in blue forget-me-nots. The bride and groom left on the 1:16 southbound train for Milwaukee, Chicago and Minneapolis, where they will enjoy their honeymoon before going to Winnipeg, Canada, where they will reside. The bride's going-away gown was African brown chiffon broadcloth with hat and shoes to correspond. The bride of today was born and reared here and is one of the most highly esteemed young ladies of the city. Mr. Gervais is well known in baseball circles, having twirled for Winnipeg in the Northern league for the past two seasons. He spent the last two winters at the home of his sister, Mrs. Joseph Derches and has made many friends while in our city. We bespeak in behalf of them both congratulations and best wishes at the outset of their matrimonial voyage. Among the out of town people here attending the wedding were Mrs. Henry Ketz, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. Euclid Gervais, Escanaba; Mrs. Fred Ramsay, Racine; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grell, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Eyke, Menominee and Glen Moreau, Menominee.

ures relating to women and children. At our annual luncheon all present received a copy of the laws pertaining to the "Property Rights of Husband and Wife" gotten out by the California Civic league, which it is hoped will enable each one of us to understand the law as it now is, and see where changes are desirable.

Three legislative measures have been proposed by the legislative council of California and have been endorsed by the Los Angeles district officers. They are:

1. "Changes in the Community Property Laws."
2. Moron colony or other provision for the feeble minded.
3. Mothers' pension law to be amended so that children need not be wards of the juvenile court.

Meetings have been held in a number of places, where these subjects have been discussed by competent speakers and an opportunity given for all interested to become informed. Doubtless many other such meetings will be held. Very little has been accomplished in civics by our club for several years, but we return to the attack with enthusiasm, hoping to do something worth while this year. If we could, for instance, work to have the parkways of vacant lots set out to trees and the trees cared for by the person owning the lot, if the owner lives here, if he does not, then cared for by the town, work to have otherwise vacant lots cleared of unsightly stumps of trees, that "never will and never are expected to bear fruit, (but only scale) work for comfortable seats where many persons wait for the cars, work for monthly clean up days instead of yearly, I am sure we should present a better appearance. A little practical effort with results is surely much better than a large amount of "theory only."

We are all desirous that our beautiful little city should look its best for home folks as well as for strangers.

In speaking of giving help to the needy one of our poets most beautifully and truly says:

"Not that which we give
But what we share,
For the gift, without the giver
Is bare,
Who bestows himself with his alms
Feeds three,
Himself, his hungering neighbor,

I feel that our local relief and philanthropic committee have this wonderful spirit toward those who are in need of temporary aid and their good work will be continued along the lines that have been followed in the past.

Anyone wishing to assist in this important work can do so through our committees, who will be very happy to advise you as to how you can help them, and others.

There is always some relief work to be done, and during the recent period of financial depression, more requests for aid than usual have been made, and more than usual have been met by our committees, representing you, and me.

Your president has been asked by Mr. Blanchard of Los Angeles to appoint a committee to confer with him in regard to interesting our club members and townspeople in the Symphony orchestra of which Mr. Adolf Tandler is leader. His idea is that all attending from this vicinity make arrangements for their seats through our committee, who will be given choice of seats before the sale is open to the public. All possible will be done to make it pleasant for those attending.

Seats for any size parties may be procured in any section of the house. Luncheon at the Alexandria for out-of-town subscribers is also spoken of where musicians will address those in attendance and a social spirit will be cultivated.

I have asked Mrs. E. W. Kinney to be chairman of this committee, and she has chosen Mrs. Dora L. Gibson and Mrs. H. R. Boyer to assist her.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is also calling on the club women to support a movement intended to give aid to local factories and workers. We are asked to buy made at home goods, such as silks, shirt waists, neckties, and the like, as well as crackers, tuna, candy and the like, thereby enabling these places to run to their full capacity giving idle men work and making for general prosperity.

So our activities increase and the circle of our influence widens.

Great pains has been taken again this year to arrange attractive, entertaining and instructive programs to suit a variety of tastes and we trust they will meet with your approval.

Each member cannot expect her favorite subject, every meeting, but we hope during the year all will be pleased. The sections of course, are especially for study, and you are invited and urged to join as many as you have time to attend.

New members will find these section meetings a great help in becoming acquainted with the different members of the club. You may travel and study art, you may enjoy the field of literature or music, you may become a Shakespeare scholar or a parliamentarian but I can assure you, whatever your choice may be, you have a pleasant year before you, for all the curators have given of their best in preparing the work.

Our chairman of the "Ways and Means committee" has several plans to add to our bank account for the club house fund, of which you will hear more later on. We have now $350 on interest for the club house and the board has recently voted to set aside one-third of all membership dues for the same purpose.

In looking over the new Los Angeles district directory, I find that the Tuesday Afternoon club stands twelfth in the list of one hundred and forty-one clubs as to membership. There are only three or four of the eleven above us in our class at all, the others having very large memberships indeed.

I also remember that a number of clubs much smaller than we are, have their own club houses, and I know many of you are anxious we should have ours.

I think a club should not live beyond its means any more than an individual or family and we do not wish a club house till we can afford it. However I hope this year we may all put forth efforts which shall result in bringing the realization of our hopes a great deal nearer.

It will surely be unwise to think of building till we have several thousand dollars to our credit, or all we could make would be needed to pay interest on a necessary mortgage, but we can co-operate in every way possible with the ways and means committee in whatever plans are presented for the building fund and each member do her best to make a success of whatever is undertaken.

I wish again to thank you all for the spirit of harmony and good will which was constantly shown last year, and I bespeak the same loyalty and service for the year upon which we enter today.

This is neither your club nor my club, but our club, let us work together for its best interests and the good of all.

MRS. H. E. BARTLETT.

Mrs. Fluelinna Daugherty's Welcome

As I look around the table at the faces gathered here
I feel sure our lamp of friendship is burning bright and clear
May each one do her duty that our lamp may always be Filled with oils that burn the brightest, Truth, Love and Constancy.

Our club is like a family, with President as head,
By officers and directors the rest of us are led.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. White who reside at the end of the car line and who have been conducting the Oakdale grocery will be interested in the announcement that Mr. White is to resume his former profession, that of a music teacher. Mr. and Mrs. White came to La Crescenta two years ago seeking a climate that would be more favorable to Mr. White's health than that of Los Angeles where they lived for thirty years. Mr. White was suffering severely with asthma. By living constantly out of doors and working in the soil he has regained a measure of his robust health and he would scarcely be known for the man who came here two years ago. Mr. White is one of the oldest organists of Los Angeles now living. Thirty years ago he was organist in the old Fort street Methodist church and has been teaching music all his life. Now that he has regained his health he cannot resist getting back into the old harness and he will open a studio at his home. A little later in the season he intends to put in a stock of pianos. Like all true musicians he has kept up with the time, realizing that methods in teaching music change with the years as do all other things, and he is prepared to teach the piano and harmony along the most up-to-date lines.
